

Vintage Thursday

Vintage Thursday is meant to be a casual, convivial and affordable exploration of wine and food. There is no set time and the only agenda is enjoyment and education. Aside from sampling the wine offerings we propose from our winelist guests are welcome to bring their own bottle based on the theme of the night and share it with others, like a mini Paulée de Meursault. On occasion some of our professional wine friends may drop by from a local wine shop or a purveyor may arrive with some exciting samples "in the bag" or even a winemaker in town.

SAKE & HIDDEN WINE GEMS

This week we will explore the high quality, unique sake that we currently feature. A vintage Thursday would not be complete without featuring some hidden gems from our cellar - this week from Austria, Switzerland, France and Lebanon!

Cheers!

SAKE

Dassai 50, Junmai Daiginjo, Asahi Shuzo <180ml> 9

Dassai 23, Junmai Daiginjo, Asahi Shuzo <300ml> 20

The above are from the illustrious Dassai brewery. They are delicate and complex. A wine drinker's sake. The number represents the level of polish that each rice grain was taken down to. 50 is the minimum for a Junmai sake. We are offering tastes of the rare 23 which means that 67% of each rice grain is discarded in order to coax out the best, most pure flavors from the rice. In wine terms, think of it as free run juice from low yielding old vines.

Amabuki, Himawari 70 Junmai, Ginjo <180ml> 8

Fermented with Sunflower Yeast

Kikusui Funaguchi Honjozo Gold Can <200ml> 8

Totally unpasteurized and aged slightly in the can, very aromatic, nutty/caramel, full bodied. Undiluted at 19% alc.
